

AIHA University Webinar: Adapting Your Ergonomics Program to the Hybrid Work Environment

The COVID-19 pandemic and resulting quarantine accelerated the trend toward performing office work remotely, whether from home or across the country, whether full time or part time. As companies are evaluating the call for employees to return to the office, they are re-evaluating what their workspace should look like. These shifting environments pose challenges to industrial hygienists and safety professionals, as well as the opportunities to be involved in planning the new office environment. Recommended program updates include how to perform ergonomic assessments when workers have multiple desks (whether at the office or at home or both), important training revisions, frugal ergonomics for the home office, and useful psychosocial adaptations to reduce stress while maintaining productivity.
